E. F. LOVILL

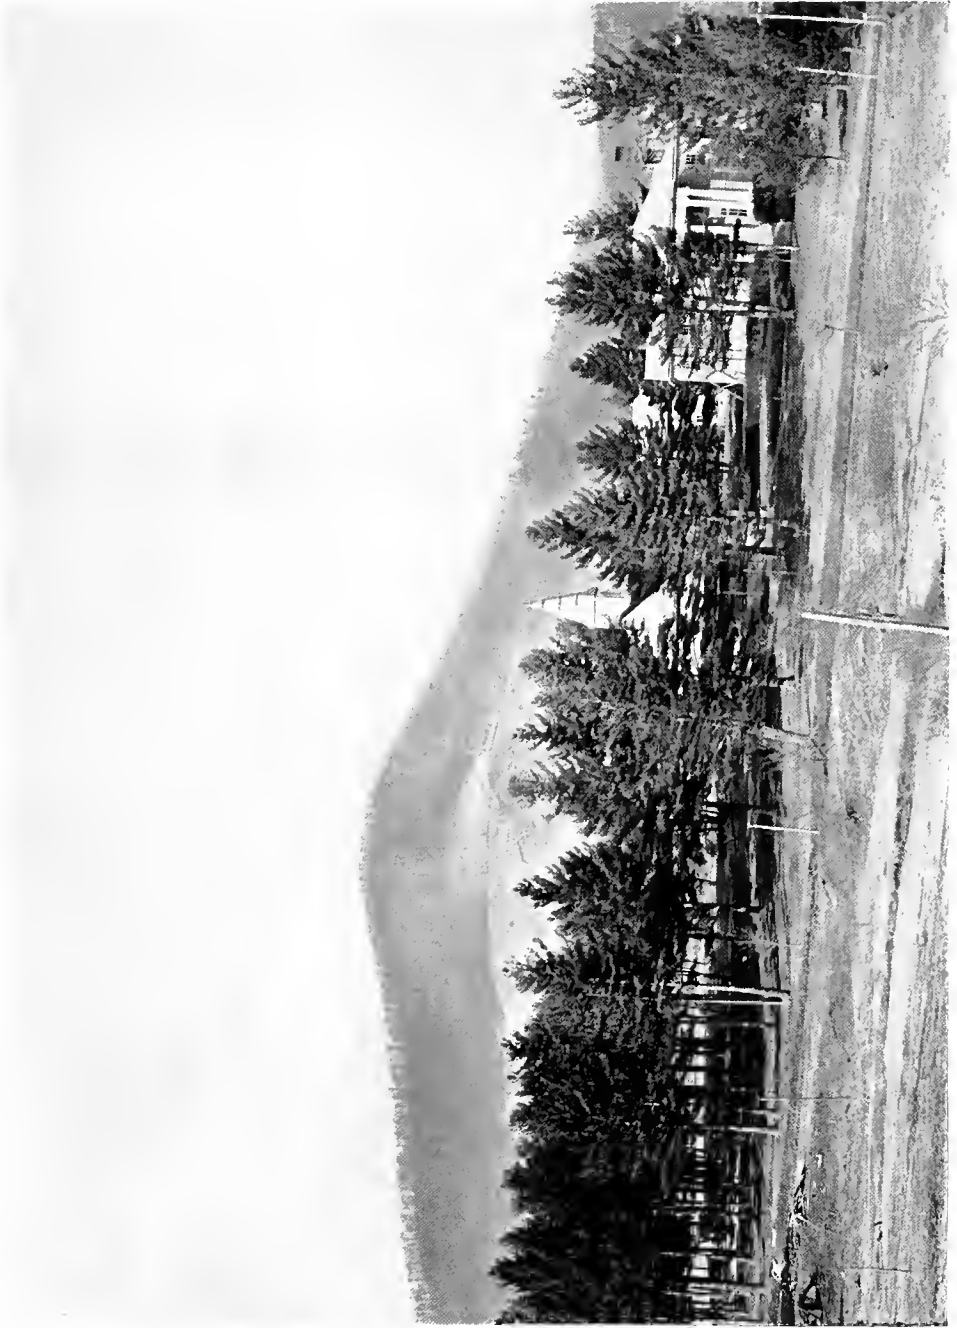

An Appreciation Of Capt. Edward Francis Lovill

Captain Lovill has had a long and eventful career. As a boy playing marbles when a student at Siloam Academy, Surry County; as a cowboy on a Texas frontier; as a farmer, tilling the soil in the valleys of Missouri; as a brave soldier and Captain in the Civil War, contending for human rights, dealing with human life—the last to surrender at Appomattox; as a husband and father; as a merchant behind the counter; as a lawyer, pleading at the bar; as a Collector of Internal Revenues, working for the Government; as a Commissioner, appointed by the President of the United States, to investigate Indian Titles in the far away State of Minnesota; as a candidate for Congress, defending democracy against an able opponent; as a member of the Legislature, demanding that the railroads should pay a greater revenue to the Commonwealth; and later, as a State Senator, protecting the railroads from unjust legislation; as President of the Board of Trustees of this Institution from its beginning, he has done his duty as he saw it, bravely and boldly, without fear and without favor.

To me it is an inspiration to see him giving the last years of his long, useful life to the cause of education. He has dedicated his time, his energies, and his talents to the building of this school, to the end that useful knowledge may be disseminated—that better opportunities may be put in the pathway of every youth in this mountain land. His life is a benediction to us all.

DAVID FRANKLIN BAIRD

Valle Crucis, N. C.

"Always willing and ready to do." Age 18; height, 5ft., 6in.; weight, 154 lbs.

Our nearest approach to real character, "Beardy" has a "hail-fellow well met" manner, which gives him a place in the Senior family of '23 that few of us have. He has a habit of smiling at you—at himself and at the world. He is marked by his sense of humor and steadiness.

WILMA RUTH BAIRD

Valle Crucis, N. C.

"Every act is generated by her own thinking." Age 17; height, 5ft., 3in.; weight 138 lbs.

"Billy" is a quiet, modest, sensible girl—Those love her most who know her best. Carrying vim and determination to her work she masters it well and has a suitable disposition for teaching. She will continue her education with that in view. We wish her great success.

A.T.S.

MAE HOLLY BARLOW

Creston, N. C.

"Good nature and good sense must ever join." Age 19; height, 5ft., 3in.; weight, 118 lbs.

This quiet unassuming young lady is always ready for work, and adds dignity to our Senior procession. Grade one on History proves both ability and application. She is a steady, true girl, challenging our admiration and endearing herself to all. Our brightest wishes follow her.

EARNEST FLOYD BILLINGS

Watauga Falls, N. C.

Age 22; height, 5ft., 10in.; weight, 160 lbs. "Shanks" has a personality that wins with everybody. He is a gallant young man, an excellent student, an active society member and one of the best speakers and workers. With ambition and enthusiasm unbounded he will fill an honored station in life.

NORMA GUERRELL BROWN

Winston-Salem, N. C.

"Lily browed and lily hearted, She is very dear to us."

Always obliging is our blond "Brownie." Seldom does she acknowledge the preparation of a lesson but when the time comes she's ready with an answer. She has a fine spirit of fun, plenty of pep and is endowed with that rare gift of speaking which attracts people and makes friends.

A.T.S.

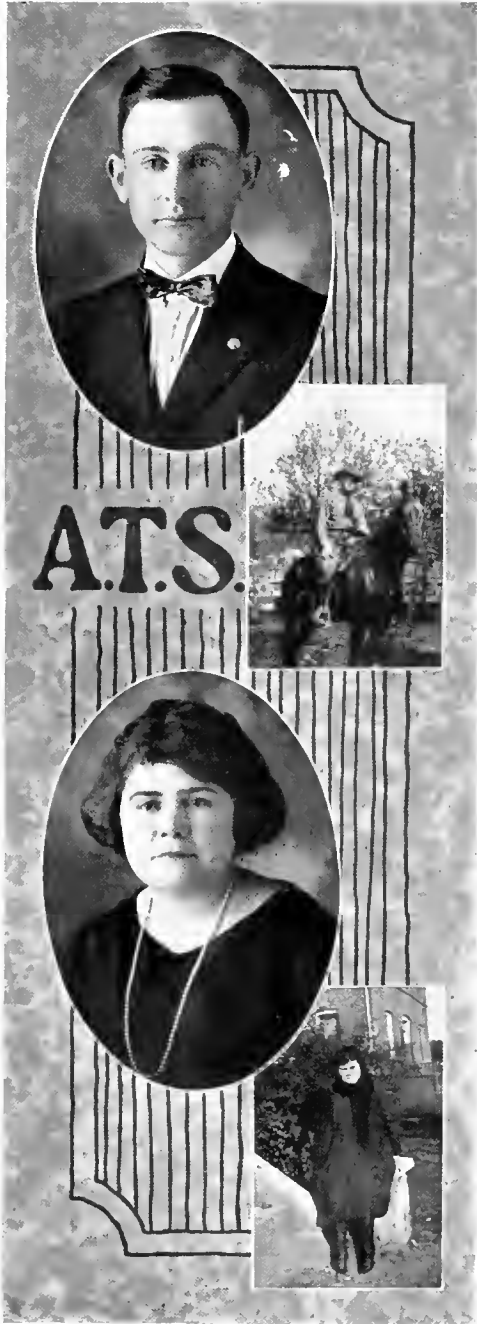

FLOY ROWENA CANNON

Boone, N. C.

"True modesty is thy merit." Age 21; height, 5ft., 2in.; weight, 110 lbs.

Floy is serious and mild but with a fineness of attitude characteristic of independent thought. She is a true friend, an excellent student, a pleasant member of the social group and withal a young lady of whom her class and the school is proud.

ROBERT SPENCER CASTLE

Boone, N. C.

"Far may we search before we find, A heart so noble or so kind." Age 27; height 5ft., 5½in.; weight, 140 lbs.

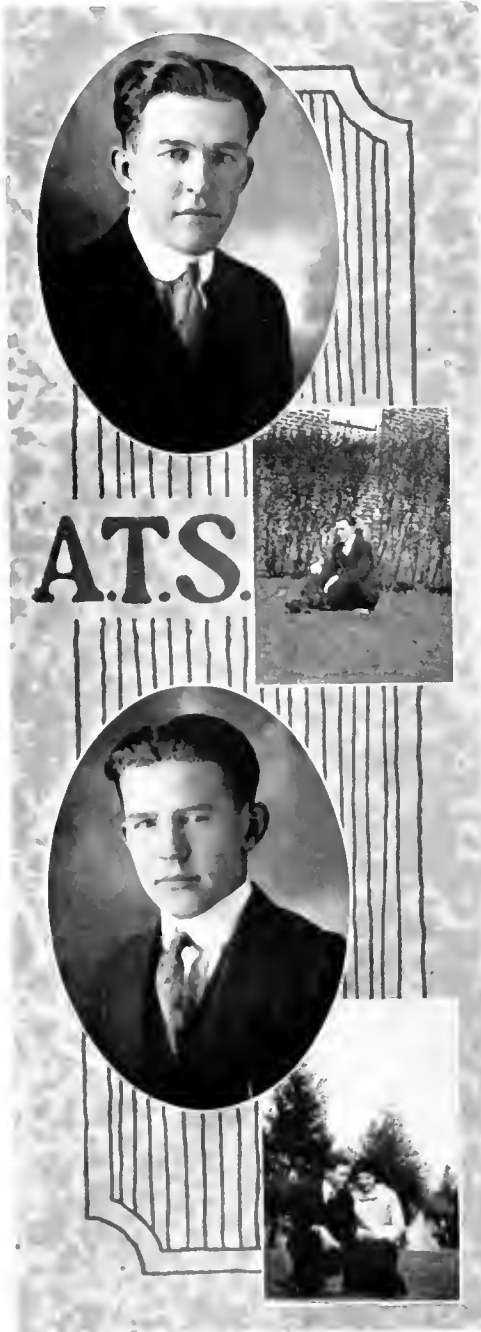

Castle is one of our steady workers. His attitude toward life is not merely to "get by" but to reach the highest notch. He takes school work in the same earnest way in which he served humanity on "Flanders Field."

LINDA ANN CANNON

Stanley, N. C.

"They needed a song bird in Boone so the good genii sent Linda here." Age 19; height, 5ft., 2in.; weight, 145 lbs.

When you are socially inclined just tackle "Lindy" and you will find in her the most entertaining personality. She is talented in music, and nothing can rob her of her good nature. Her highest aim is to make the best better.

PAUL WORDSWORTH CASEY

New Castle, N. C.

"Here we meet the man of brains." Age 20; height, 5ft., 9in.; weight, 145 lbs.

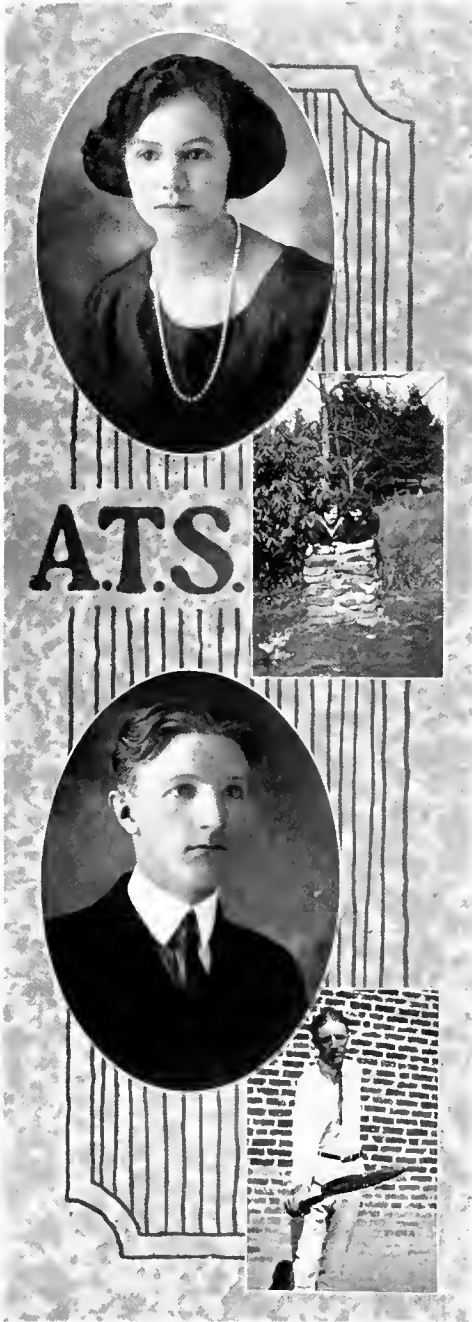

Paul is one of our most loyal class members. By ardent effort he has completely monopolized the good will of our vice president.

SILAS BURNS CASEY

New Castle, N. C.

"A firm believer in altruism; very optimistically inclined." Age 20; height, 5ft., 9in.; weight, 145 lbs.

"Judge" is impulsive, quick to act, earnest in his beliefs, brilliant in debate, and has the accomplishment of a flowery orator. Efficient self-confidence is written in his very being.

LOLA BERTHA CHURCH

North Wilkesboro, N. C.

"The sweetest; the rarest." Age 21; height 5ft.; weight, 100 lbs.

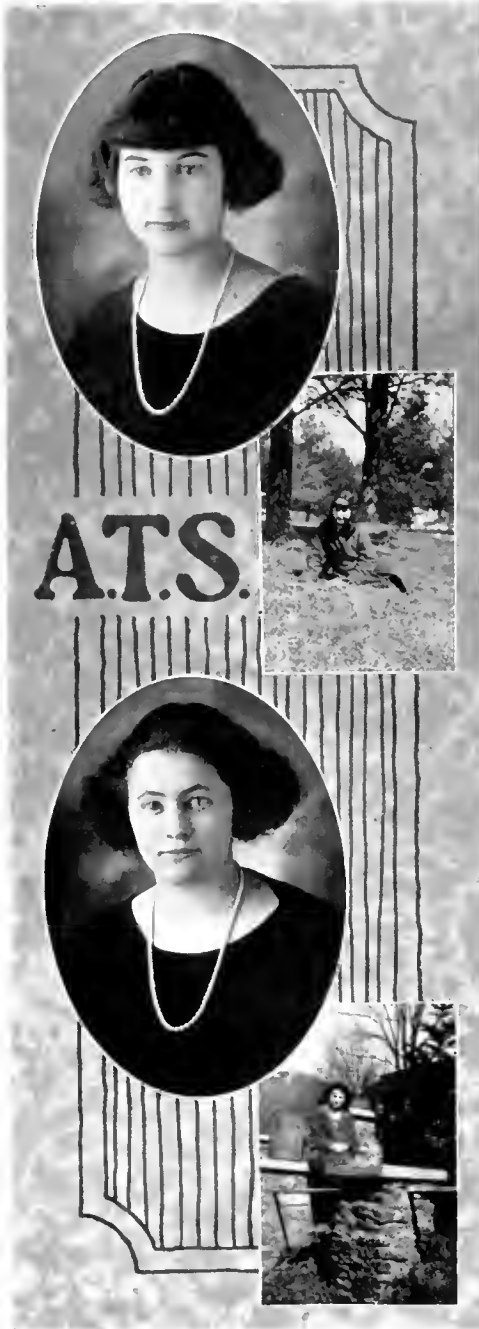

Cheerfulness good humor and aspiration combined have done wonderful things for "Duck." Possessing a disposition unexcelled and rarely equalled in pleasantness, she is a favorite of all and an inspiration to each. for with all her attractions she is nevertheless efficient and capable.

THOMAS H. COFFEY

Blowing Rock, N. C.

"I'll drown my books." Age 19; height, 6ft., 2in.; weight, 160 lbs.

"Shorty," who entered Junior hails from the tall timbers, being long, lank and lean, he towers above any other in school. He is already high up in this life and we predict greater things for him—if he continues to grow. He may not spend so much time on text books; yet he reads extensively. We all admire him because we can always count on him. A bigger hearted fellow is yet to come.

BERNICE RUTH COOK

Boone, N. C.

"A smile for all, a greeting glad, an amiable, jolly way she had." Age 20; height, 5ft., 1in.; weight, 119 lbs.

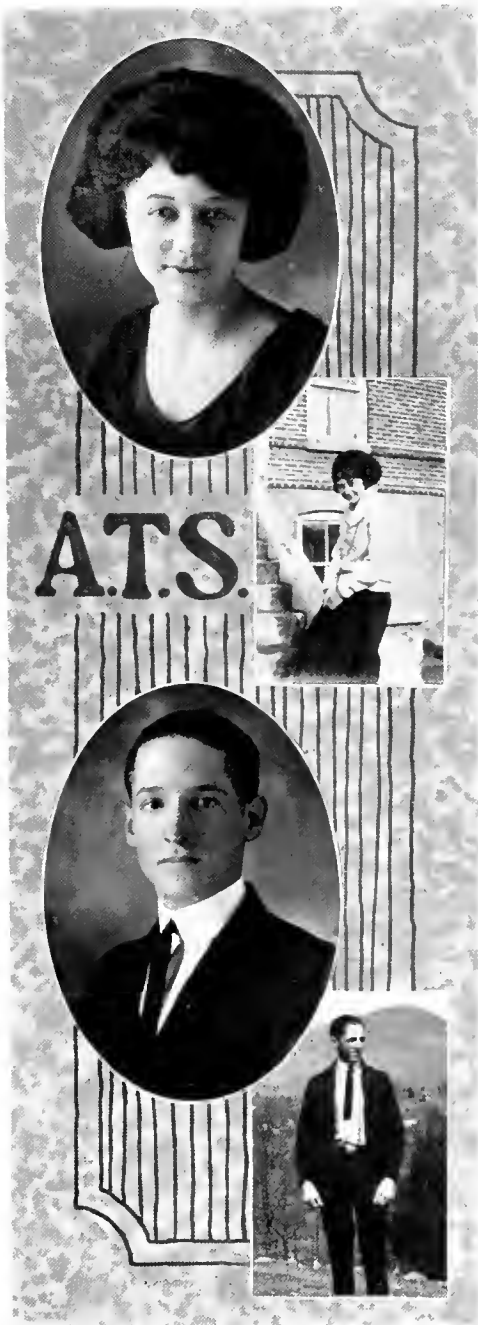

"Miss Bill" is one of the foundation stones of our class and a good one, ever ready for all the fun that life affords. This done she proves her literary ability by her work.

SARAH VIRGINIA COUNCILL

Boone, N. C.

"To know her is to love her." Age 19; height, 5ft., 4in.; weight, 122 lbs.

Virginia has been with us five years and her capable mind, quiet dignity and gentle disposition have won her great admiration and attracted many friends. She is faithful, hard-working student with a pronounced talent for art in which field she will doubtless succeed.

ANNA LEE CRISP

Blowing Rock, N. C.

"She liked whatever she looked on, and her looks went far." Age 18; height, 5ft., 4 in.; weight, 123 lbs.

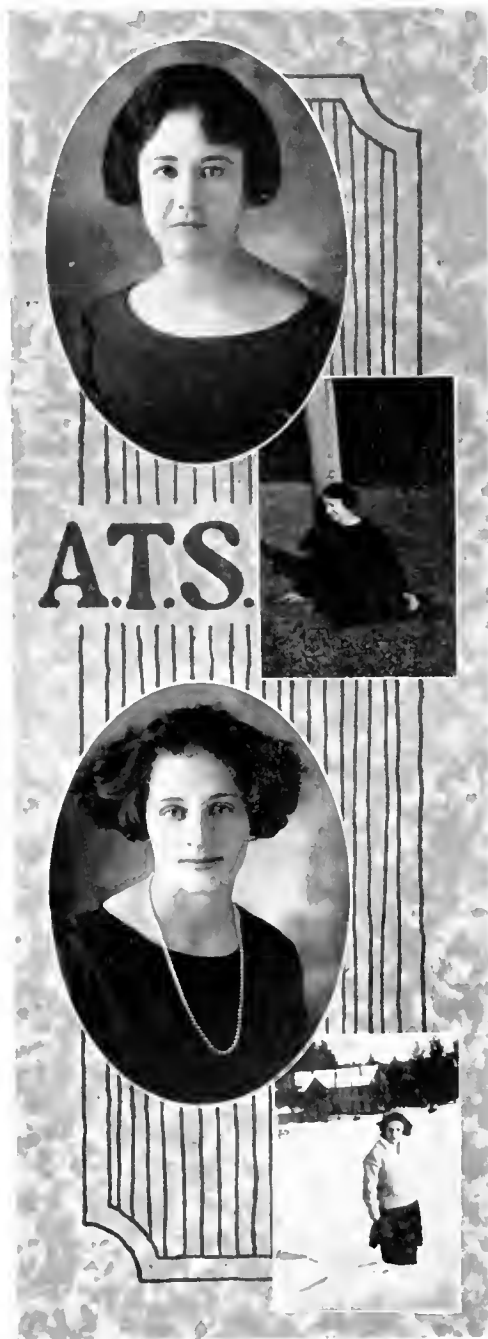

"Annie" is one of our best students. She has all the fun possible by learning to combine work and play. Her jolly good nature, her fairness, her sympathetic and considerate manner proves a drawing card which has won for her many, many loyal friends.

THOMAS EDISON FARTHING

Watauga Falls, N. C.

"Today is the day of salvation; tomorrow never comes." Age 19; height, 6ft., weight 154 lbs.

"Tom" is an exceedingly good natured fellow, an impressive speaker, and especially a friend to the ladies. We feel that none of our problems are settled right without his opinion and good will. He has a very charming personality, a liberal amount of brass, and an additional supply of sand; these three combined in one person insure success.

ELLA EVELYN GARLAND

Newland, N. C.

"After all what is life without a touch of humor." Age 19; height, 5ft., 5in.; weight, 146 lbs.

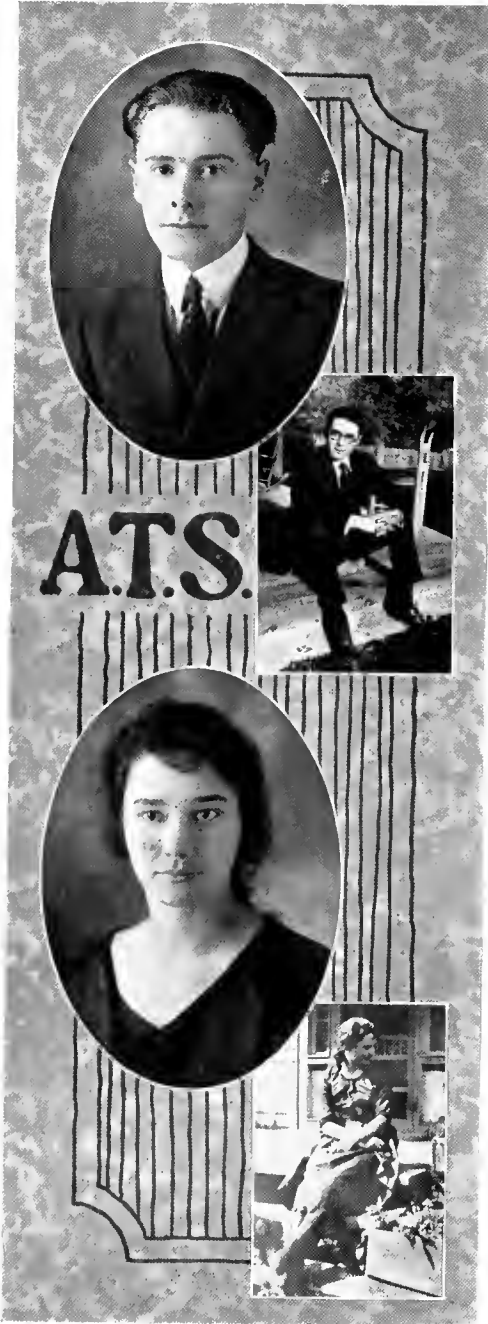

"Bob" is one of our "witty" classmates and always sees life from the bright side. Away from the class room her greatest ambition, even on the gloomiest days, is to keep the crowd cheerful.

BLANCHE EULA GAMBILL

Sparta, N. C.

"The mildest speech and the gentlest manner." Age 17; height, 5ft., 2in.; weight, 111 lbs.

To see Blanche going from one room to another attending to her own business you would never suspect a bit of devilry about her, but she has as much as any of us. Always ready for a midnight feast. She is "the girl with the goods." Blanche Gambill, our hats off to you, we wish you success.

ROBERT ORRUS GLENN

Watauga Falls, N. C.

"Attempt the end and never stand in doubt. Nothing's so hard but search will find it out." Age 18; height, 5ft., 7in.; weight, 135 lbs.

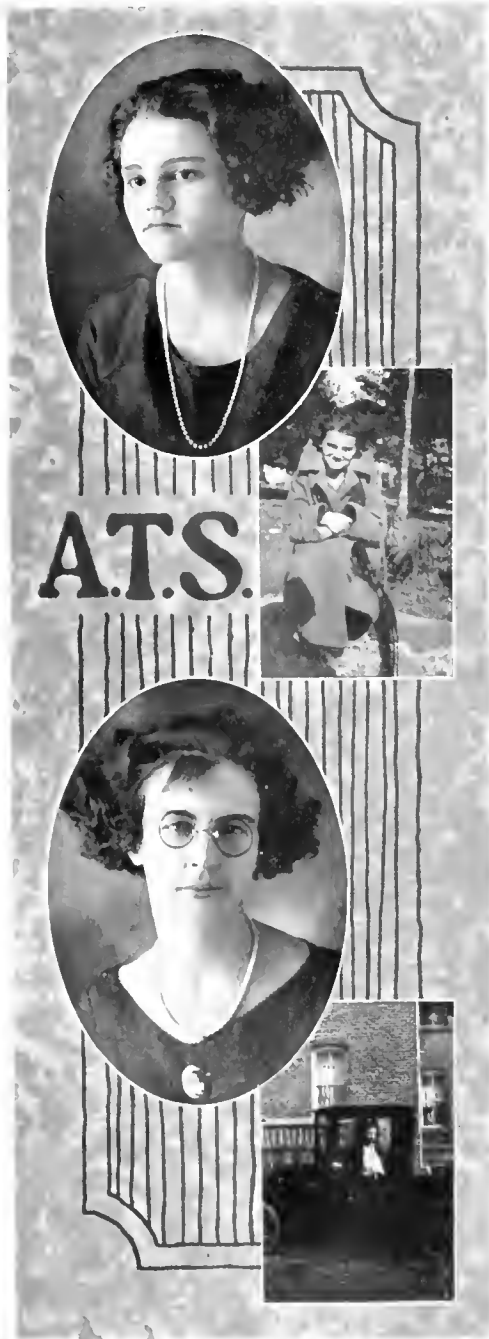

We could not find a more studious boy in our class than "Bob." He came to us in his Junior year and has made good all the time. We expect of him the very highest achievement if ability and strong determination count.

ADDIE NEWTON HARDIN

Rutherford, N. C.

"Tho' the way be rugged she is determined to succeed." Age 19; height, 5ft. 4in.; weight, 125 lbs.

"Add" is a studious, self-confident young lady. When anything difficult is to be done she can always be depended upon for her part. Earnestness, patience, hard study, and willingness to work point to her as one of the very best students in school, well deserving the high esteem in which she is held.

DOROTHY MAY HAYES

Blowing Rock, N. C.

"To all, her smiles extend." Age 16; height 5ft., 2in.; weight, 105 lbs.

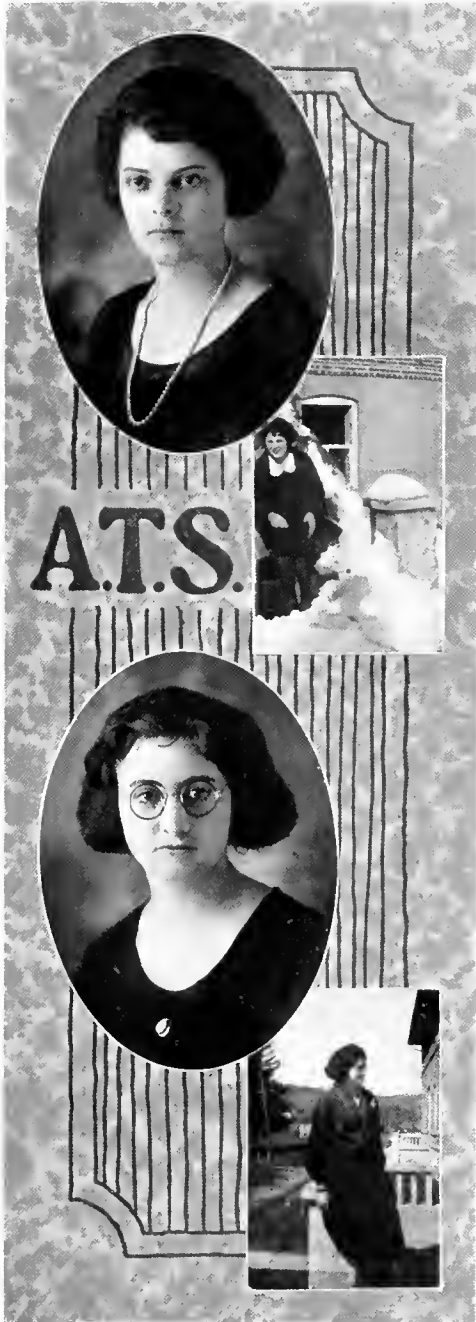

"Giant" is the baby of our class in age but not in achievements, for she ranks among the best that '23 affords. She has been in the class from the beginning and a more loyal member is not to be found.

MARGARET ELLA HERNDON

Altamahaw, N. C.

"A generous heart; a will inflexible." Age 20; height, 5ft., 9in.; weight, 140 lbs.

"Ped" is a steady worker, clever, entertaining always on time and of charming personality. She has won popularity with her schoolmates. She possesses will power to an unusual degree which should be of great value in her chosen life-work that of foreign missionary.

MARY IRENE HOLSHOUSER

Blowing Rock, N. C.

"She studies nature with a wanton eye. Admires the work—but skips the lessons by." Age 17; height 5ft., 2 in.; weight 110 lbs.

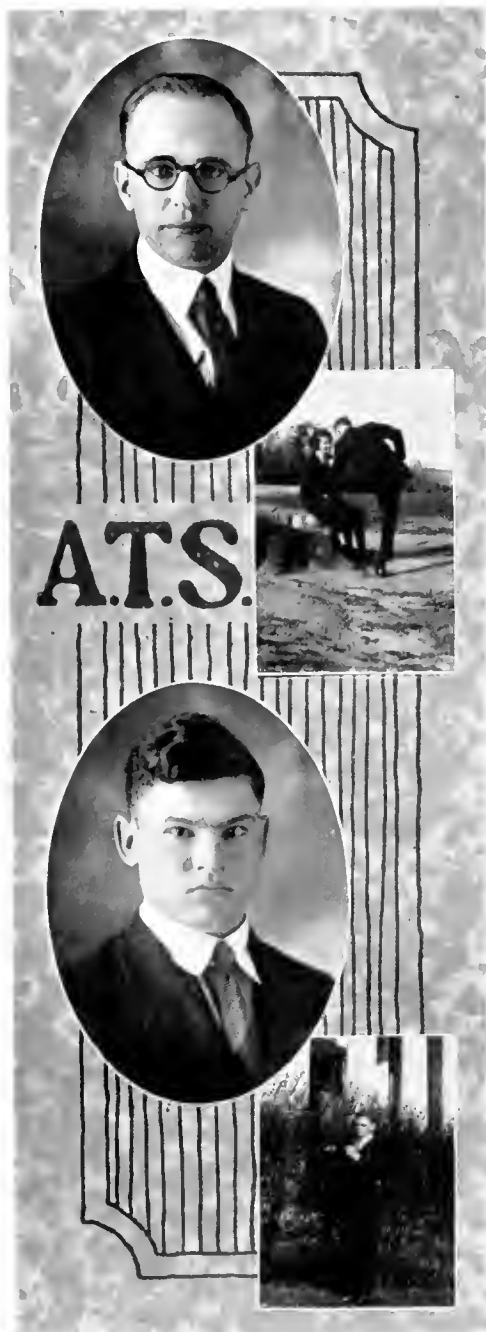

"Reenie" entered our class as a Sophomore with the intentions of winning favor with classmates and teachers. In this she has succeeded and is loved by all. Her sweet disposition, winning smile, and ambition to learn will help her in her college career.

MARTHA BLANCHIE HORTON

Vilas, N. C.

"The hand that hath made you fair hath made you good." Age 18; height, 5ft., 5in.; weight 128 lbs.

Blanche is one of our most dignified Seniors. Her graceful ways and ambition for music soon won the hearts of her classmates. After leaving this school she will take a special course in music preparatory to teaching. We are sure that she will have a success.

JOHN T. HOWELL

Brookside, N. C.

"I dare do all things that may become a man, who dares do more is none." Age 21; height 5ft. 7in.; weight, 155 lbs.

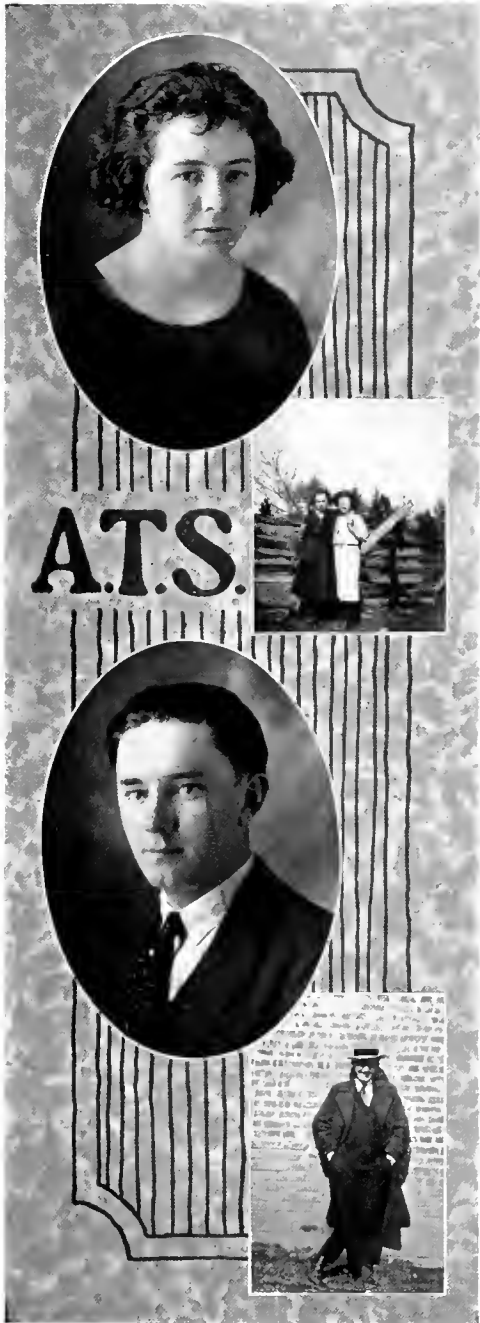

"Doc," conservative, thoughtful, never hasty in his decisions, blessed with a power of debate rarely excelled, is popular with student-body and faculty. Dignity, neatness and precision are his outstanding characteristics.

CLIFFORD F. HUDSON

Sparta, N. C.

"What wisdom is acquired without thought." Age 19; height, 5ft., 9in.; weight 177 lbs.

Clifford entered a senior from our neighboring town of Sparta, and found a welcome place. The superior way in which he does his work gives him an envied position, though short his stay among us. His many friends wish him success in his medical career.

FRANCES AMANDA LAWS

Moravian Falls, N. C.

"A gentle mind by gentle deed is known."
Age 18; height, 5ft., 3in.; weight, 125 lbs.

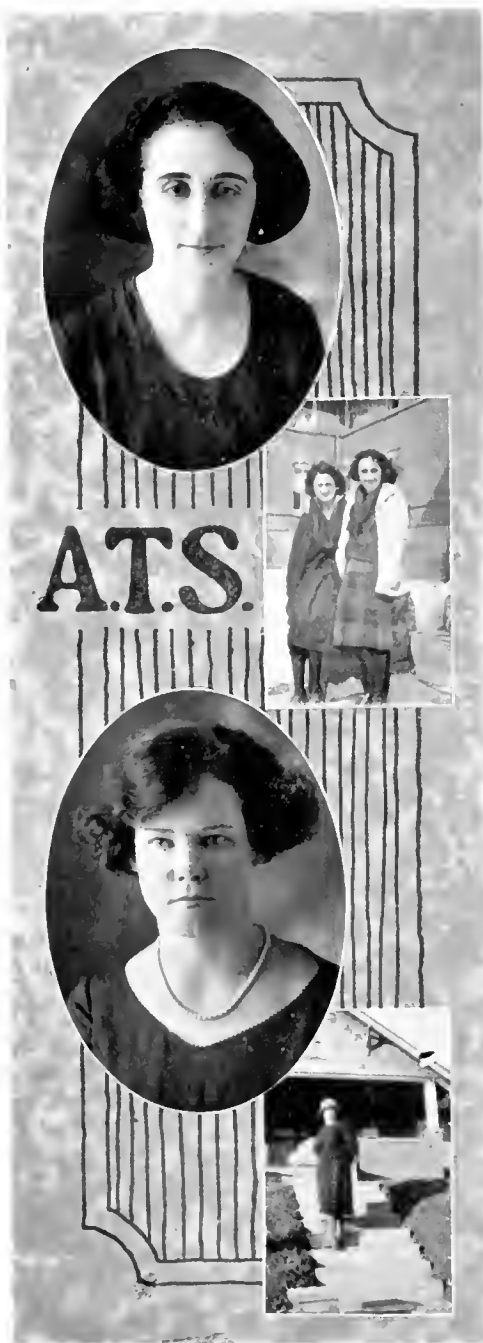

"Frank" joined us at the middle of her senior year but this is full long enough to show herself an excellent, reliable girl. She is quiet modest but lively enough to be attractive in the social group. She has our ever good wish for the realization of her highest ambition.

BAXTER MATHESON LINNEY

Boone, N. C.

"Much too wise to walk into a well."
Age 18; height, 5ft., 11in.; weight 168 lbs.

"Preacher" has been with us through the whole struggle. Though cheerful and an excellent student he has rarely been known to be on time. He has won an honored place with all his classmates and teachers, a favorite everywhere. Law awaits his farther pursuits.

MARGARET PENNINGTON LOVE

Newland, N. C.

"If I am your friend there is nothing too much for me to do." Age 19; height, 5ft., 1in.; weight, 125 lbs.

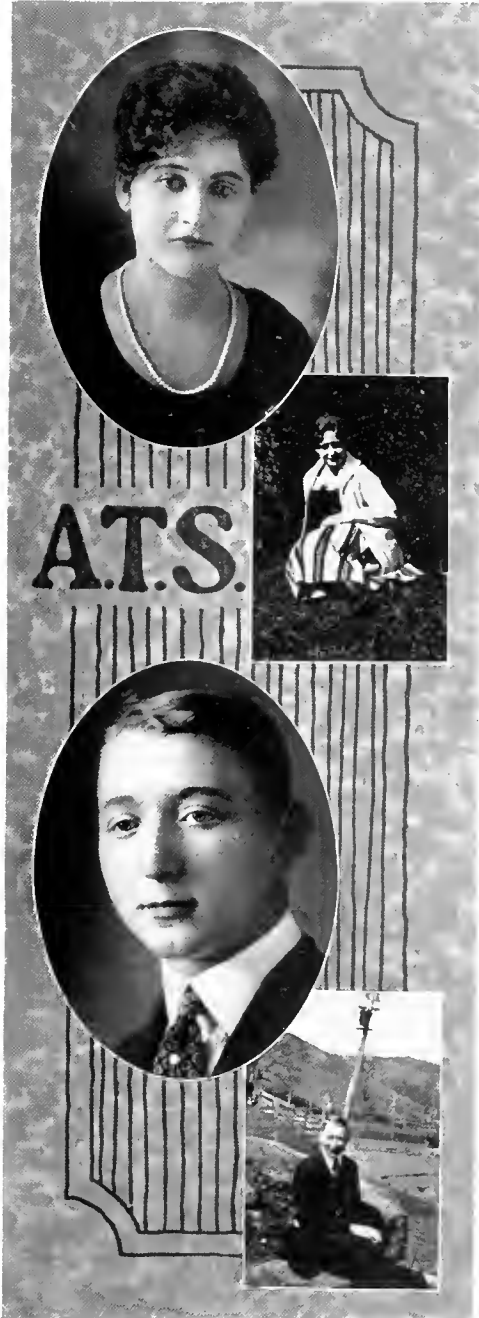

"Meg" joined us in our freshman year, just at the beginning of the joys and sorrows of high school days. She is a lively care-free girl, tenaciously loyal to her friends and a great favorite with us all.

CORALIE BLANCHE MALLOCK

Rockingham, N. C.

"Good nature is the sign of a large and generous soul." Age 18; height, 5ft., 6in.; weight, 144 lbs.

Blanche is generous and big hearted, displaying a hint of ambition which gives promise of future success. She will be remembered as one willing to do her part. We shall watch her as she climbs the ladder of political fame.

LUCY ELIZABETH MAST

Valle Crucis, N. C.

"Wise and good as she is fair." Age 18; height, 5ft., 4in.; weight 138 lbs.

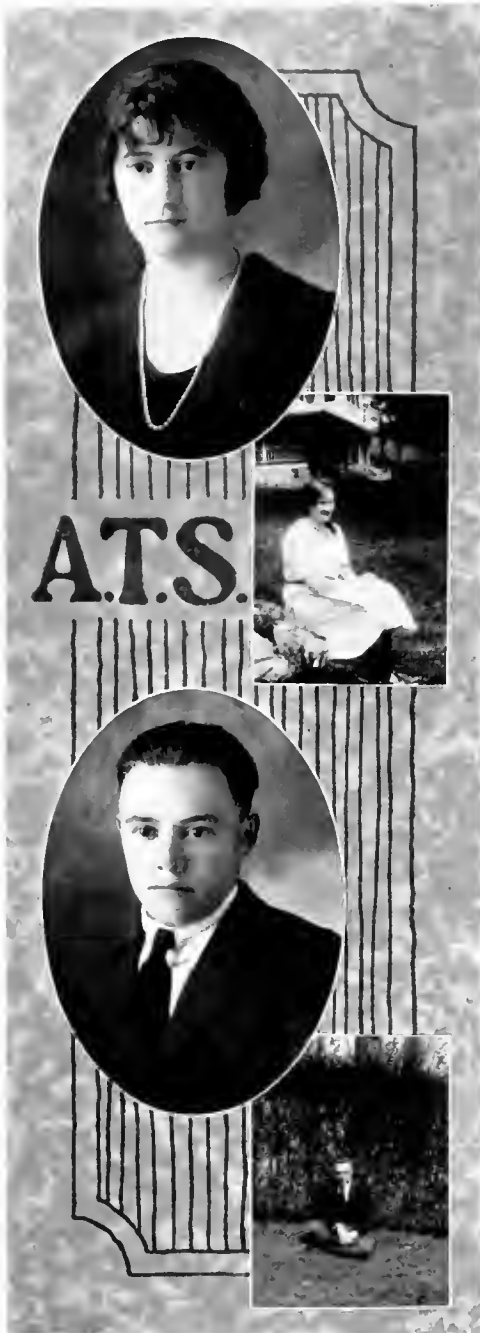

A fair girl is "Dr. Lucy" with just enough dignity to make her attractive. She has won much esteem among students and faculty, charmed our class president and established probability of success in the chosen field of her life work.

HOWARD WELLINGTON MAST

Valle Crucis, N. C.

"Courtesy is the best policy." Age 19; height, 5ft., 8in.; weight, 150 lbs.

"Pat" is one of our most studious classmates, but when there is fun around he is ready to join. He is friendly, polite, courteous and in every respect manly. We are hoping he will have great success.

DAISY LEE MAST

Mast, N. C.

"She shines without desiring to be seen." Age 19; height, 5ft., 6in.; weight, 138 lbs.

A sight of Daisy reveals the sunny disposition that wins so many friends. Her two years here has proven her a constant friend and an excellent student. Well read in kindly deeds, is faithful to her society, optimistic toward life and ambitious for the highest things.

EARL LELAND MILLER

Todd, N. C.

"Here we have an acrobat, stop and see him skin the cat." Age 20; height 5ft., 4 in.; weight 150 lbs.

"Shave" by his amiable disposition and jolly good nature has made many life long friends. He is very frank but always courteous and kind. It is in athletics that he has won distinction, being our champion basketball player. May his future be as bright as the past and equally as profitable to his friends.

ARTHUR KENNETH MOORE

Lenoir, N. C.

"And even his failings lean toward virtue."
Age 23; height, 5ft., 7in.; weight, 190 lbs.

From Caldwell comes our esteemed president, "Doc Moore," and a better one could not be found. He has been a faithful and loyal member throughout our four years, striving for the welfare of the class. His loyalty extends farther than the class, it extends to every one. The friends he has won are true and tried. He is sure to win in the medical world, toward which his ambition lies.

A.T.S.

LIZZIE LEE OSBORNE

Month of Wilson, Va.

"When duty whispers loud, 'Thou must,'
The youth replies 'I can.'" Age 16; height, 5ft., 5in.; weight, 145 lbs.

"Lizzie" in years is one of the youngest members of our class. Her personality is admired by both her teachers and her class mates. She does work in a superior manner, and is never found shirking her duty. She is both capable and worthy, and as a friend she is faithful and true. In pursuing her B. M. degree we will her great success.

A.T.S.

LUCY CLONNIE PETERSON

Day Book, N. C.

"Little have I accomplished without effort." Age 19; height, 5ft., 6in.; weight, 135 lbs.

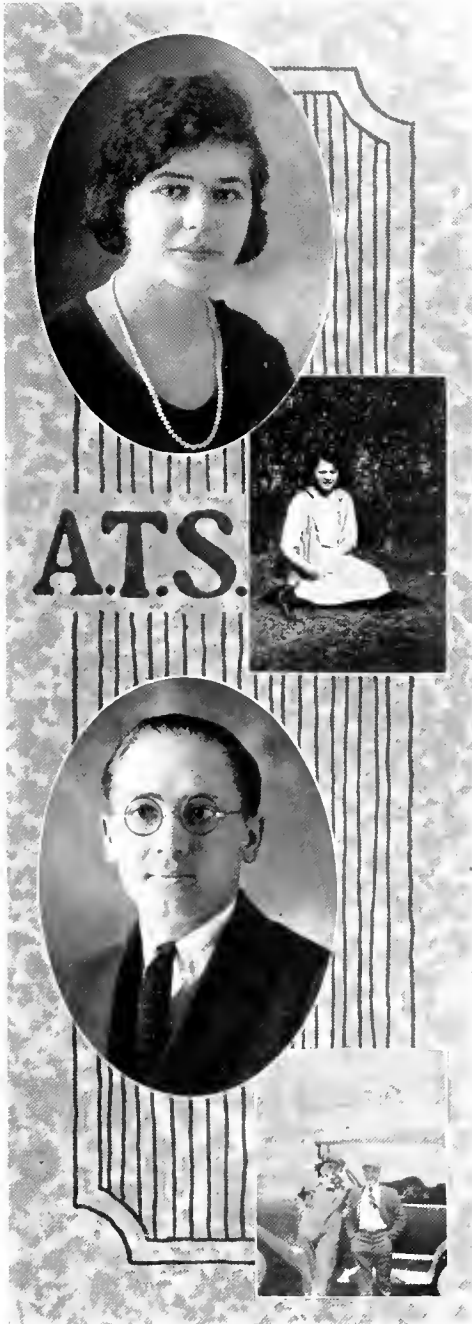

"Pete" will be remembered by her classmates for willingness to work, cheerfulness of disposition and affability of manner. Her mind is full of suggestions and acts with promptitude. She is one of the most distinguished members of the class and is admired by all. In her career as a lawyer she may claim our best wishes of success.

MARIAN ENGLISH PHILLIPS

Ingalls, N. C.

"The only way to have a friend is to be one." Age 19; height, 5ft., 4in.; weight, 145 lbs.

Talk about pep! "Shang" has it. She is one of the best basketball players A. T. S. has ever had, and a real sport, faithful to her class, loyal to the school, and popular with all. She is a real land mark for the school.

HONOR DEE REDMOND

New Hope, N. C.

"Accomplishment is parcel of the will that action hangs upon." Age 18; height, 5ft., 6in.

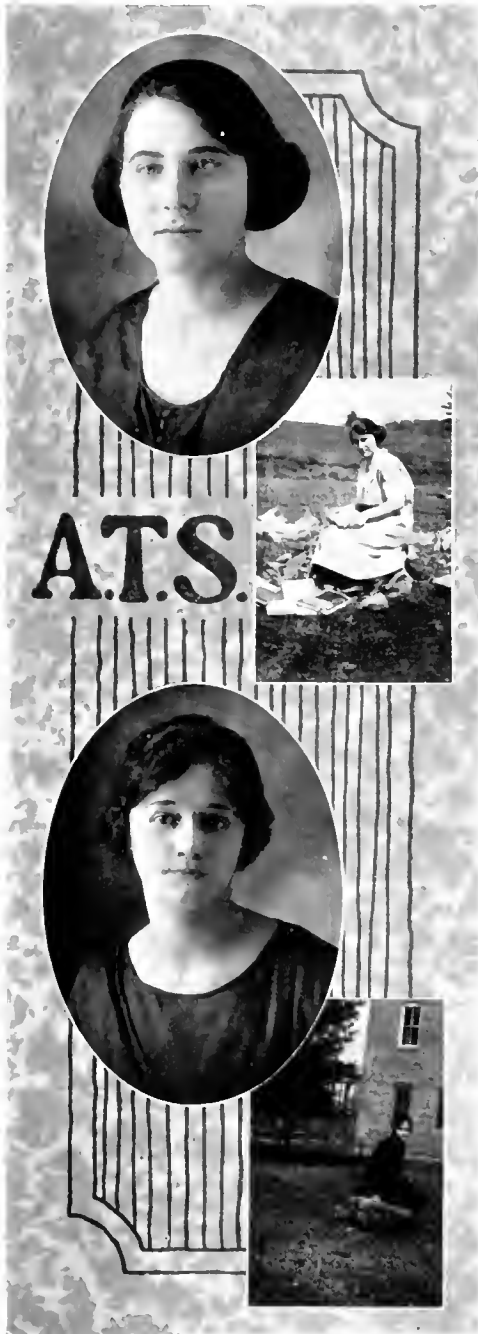

"Honor" entered as sophomore. Of her many assets the most suggestive is her nickname. Judging from her record here she is on the road to success, in which she has our best wishes.

EDWARD SPENCER QUALLS

Boone, N. C.

"Experience is a hard teacher." Age 21; height, 5ft., 8in.; weight, 158 lbs.

"Ed" has shared our sorrows and delights for four years. He is always ready for information concerning the events of the day. The far away look he sometimes wears indicates that his thoughts are elsewhere—perhaps in Tennessee, but is full of pluck and courage, he will reach the top in whatever he undertakes.

MARY WILMETTA ROWE

Valle Crucis, N. C.

"Say unto wisdom, Thou art my sister; and call understanding thy kinswoman." Age 19; height, 5ft., 4in.; weight, 130 lbs.

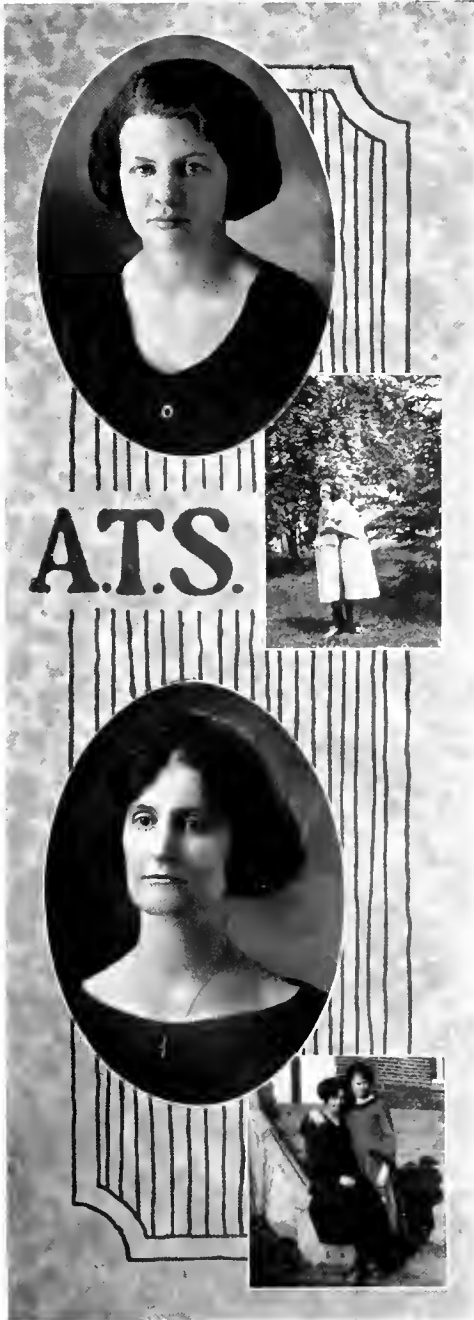

"Row" is one of the most punctual and reliable members of our class. We have never known her to slight the work set before her. Looking into the future we are able to predict a pleasing and fruitful intellectual success.

ALLY BEATRICE SHULL

Valle Crucis, N. C.

"True eyes—Too pure and too honest in aught to disguise. The sweet soul shining through them." Age 17; height, 5ft., 4in.; weight, 135 lbs.

"Bee" is one of our quiet studious girls who is always on duty. These qualities, sweetness of disposition, loyalty and cheerfulness seem to reign supreme with her.

SUE PARKS SPAINHOUR

Morganton, N. C.

"A mind for thoughts to pass into a heart for love to travel through." Age 18; height, 5ft., 5in.; weight, 110 lbs.

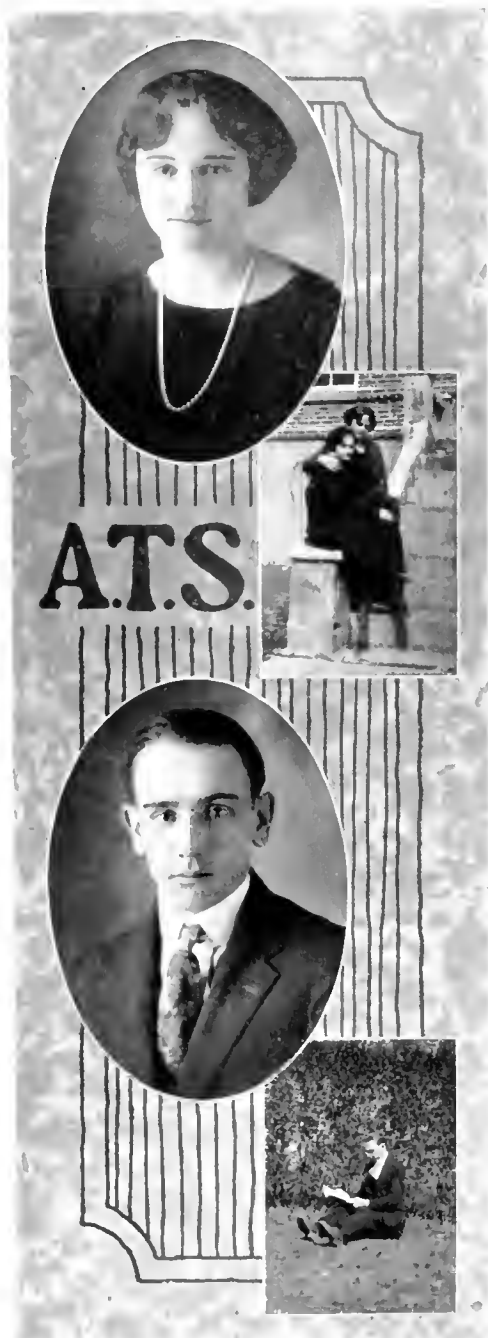

Sue has not been with us long but we have found in her a charming personality, who is attractive toward friends and pleasant toward all. She delights in music and is developing her talent in this art. Many good wishes for her success.

CLAUDIA OPHELIA SPENCER

Middletown, N. C.

"She will quote in classic raptures and awake the plains with Latin echoes." Age 21; height, 5ft., 6in.; weight, 125 lbs.

"Spencer" is one of our valuable additions from Eastern Carolina. Kind, sympathetic, and attentive to duty. Though always working with a wonderful driving force she never seems hurried. We think of her as dignified, modest and tireless in her effort to assist others.

LULA BAIRD TAYLOR

Valle Crucis, N. C.

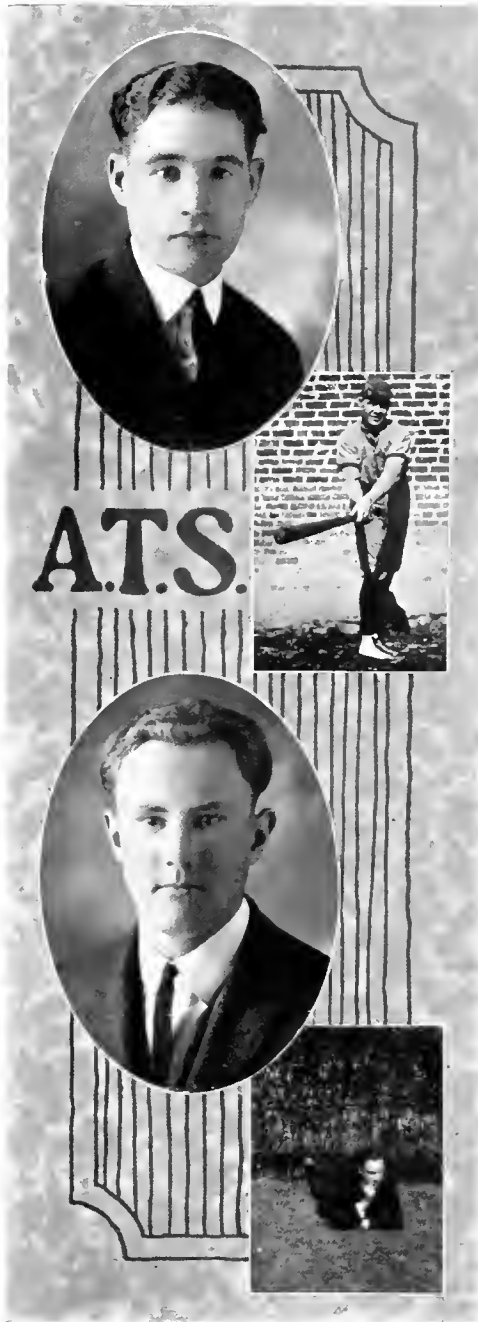

"Care may kill a cat, but will never kill me." Age 18; height, 5ft., 5in.; weight, 130 lbs.

"Scoot," entered our class a Junior. She is very optimistic, light-hearted, and gay. She hardly endorses the theory that school life is wholly for the purpose of obtaining knowledge from text-books but neither that education comes from environment.

THOMAS JULIAN WARREN

"Our wisdom is consumed in confidence." Age 20; height, 5ft., 7½in.; weight, 135 lbs.

There could not be a more optimistic fellow than Jule. He is one of the best members of the class of '23, combining those qualities which enable him to fit pleasantly into the social circle or to take part in business relationships with equal ease.

BYRON ERWIN WILLIAMS

Marshville, N. C.

"A bully I'd be throughout the land; a scholar, athlete, and lady's man." Age 19; height, 5ft., 7in.; weight, 145 lbs.

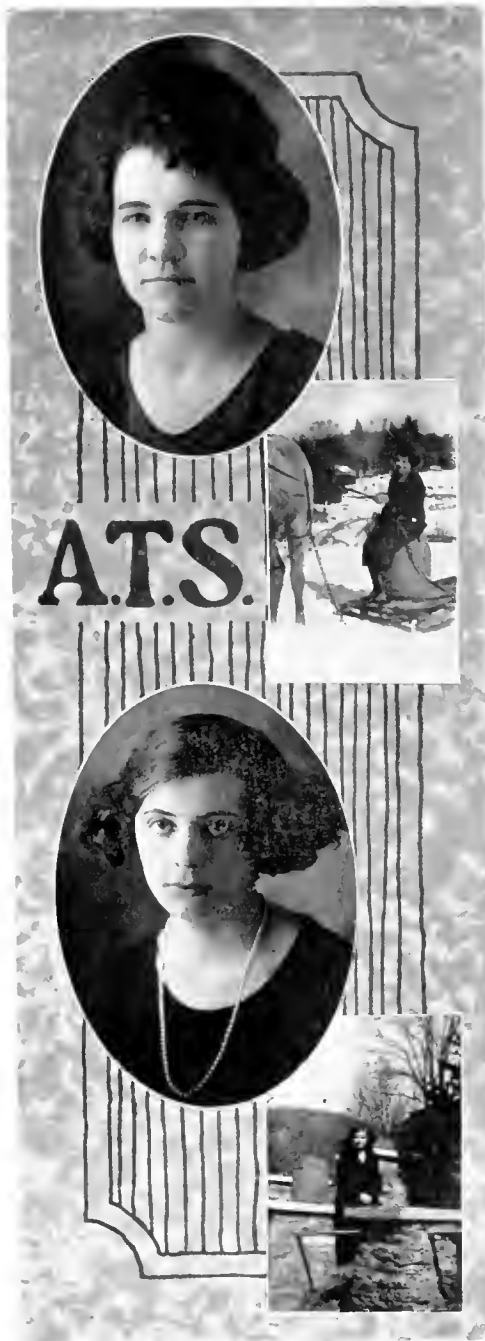

How will the A. T. A. prosper without Byron? Who will keep things lively on the ball courts, in the class room—in fact all around? He has been very popular here and we are sure success awaits him.

PAUL AUGUSTUS WILLIAMS

New Hope, N. C.

"High in demand though lowly in pretense. In all his conduct he betrays common sense." Age 21; height, 6ft.; weight, 175 lbs.

"Gus" always stands in our minds for loyalty to his class and to his fellowman. He is lighthearted, big brained, and practical. He never tries to bluff his way and consequently is thoroughly prepared in his work. He plans to dignify agriculture with these elements of efficiency.

MABEL DAVIS WILLIAMS

Blowing Rock, N. C.

"Charming personality is a wonderful thing." Age 19; height, 5ft., 6in.; weight 135 lbs.

"Zip" possesses a disposition and personality rarely met with. Jolly, full of life, ready for a good time, yet never neglecting her work for frivolous things, she moves with a quiet dignity. Men cannot live without cooks, so one man's life will be indebted to Mabel—cooking is her hobby.

ANITA CAROLYN WINKLER

Boone, N. C.

"A path of sunshine follows her." Age 20; height, 4ft., 11in.; weight, 97 lbs.

"Nita" is one of the ancient students of our class. With optimistic ways she has won esteem with both faculty and students. She is the baby of our great class but her mind is in striking contrast with her avoirdupois, for she is a genius from whom we expect great things in her career as a nurse.

Senior Class History

Everything has a history. The history of some things is written and preserved, the history of other things is merely told, while the history of still other things is worth neither the writing nor the telling.

Here is a beginning of the history of the class of 1923 which I am sure is worth writing, but unfortunately I can relate only a few of the less important events and details of the four years we have spent at the Appalachian Training School, for the most important part of our class history can be neither written nor told because it consists of the transformations in the minds of this class, under the skillful, patient leadership of earnest faithful teachers.

As for our "8th A" days we were too young and gay to care for a history. We had a larger and more noisy class than we have ever had since, but we are honored by only a few of them now. Our President that year was Lon West, our colors blue and white, and our class flower carnation. The greatest event of the year was our graduation from the 8th grade. Our class day program was a success, and no college graduate was ever more proud of his sheepskin than we of our diplomas.

Overwhelmed with joy when we again entered school, being no longer "8th A Scrubs," but verdant Freshmen, feeling that our lives had just started on an upward climb to higher and better things. We started our new year right by electing Robert Castle President. While many had not returned, fortune favored us by sending others in their places. One of whom is now our faithful President. This was a hard year for our class as well as for the school and the country because of the influenza epidemic which swept over us and took away many valuable workers. Many remained, however, having good times and filling our minds with valuable information for later years.

Influenza passed, vacation over, schools days come again and forty happy, enthusiastic boys and girls re-assembled,—Sophomores, 1920. Our number had not diminished. There were sufficient new ones to take the few places left vacant. The year was rather uneventful even the statement of the other classes that they could see our wings grow must not be taken literally. But real progress there was, in information and vision.

In the fall of 1921 real life began for us as "Jolly Juniors." This time there was added to our class a large number from various Junior High Schools throughout the state. Early in the year we effected a re-organization of the class and elected our final list of officers: Arthur Moore, President; Mary Holshouser, Vice President; Silas Casey, Poet; Marion Phillips, Prophet; Dorothy Hayes, Historian; Lucy Mast, Pianist. We selected green and white as our class colors, sweet pea as our class flower and "Push, Pull or get out of the way" as our motto. By far the most important event of the year was the entertainment of the class of '22 on March 17th. An event, however, of almost equal interest was our annual hike—this time to visit "Devil's Gate" on the beautiful Blowing Rock turnpike.

August, 1922, the last year in high school, we are Seniors. In our struggles to keep the class intact, we suffered but four defeats: one to teaching; two to matrimony; and one to business. But to balance this loss thirteen new members joined our ranks.

At the first class meeting we created and filled two additional offices: Testator, Baxter Linney; Cartoonist, Ernest Billings. After this, for the next two or three dozen meetings, we took parliamentary training in an effort to select rings. Then came the selection of the Rhododendron Staff and then the planning for a fine Annual, and our best work at composition.

It is with a feeling of regret that we approach the time of parting from our classmates, teachers, and other school friends. But even this regret largely loses its edge when we contemplate the broader horizon and clearer vision which these years have made possible to us. Standing full fifty strong looking to future fields of service we bid adieu to our dear Alma Mater, with thankful hearts for past benefits and bright hopes for future achievements.

Senior Class Prophecy

Colorado Springs, Colorado,
June the 6, 1933.

Rev. Robert Castle,
and
Clifford Hudson,
Calcutta, India.

Dear old schoolmates:—

We have been planning to write you ever since we learned two weeks ago at Boone, N. C., while attending the tenth anniversary of our graduation from the Training School, that you two are doing missionary work together in far off India.

We have just returned from another year of diplomatic work in South America, and are taking a little vacation here. Knowing of your interest in our class, and in the Training School we will report in brief the things we learned at the Class Banquet where, as you know, each was expected to report his own achievements. We saw the first class receive from this Institution Bachelor's degrees in Liberal Arts. But this advancement in the standard of the school was in no respect greater than was the material progress. In addition to the eight buildings of our school days were a large, modernly equipped administration building, a hospital, a new gymnasium, a model school building, a dining room, accommodating a thousand students, a bakery, a cold storage plant, model laundry and, a power plant, adequate for years to come. President B. B. Dougherty is still at the head of the school surrounded by a large corps of university, trained teachers.

The facts concerning our class of ten years ago caused many, "I told you so's", but there were sufficient surprises to add variety. The Superintendent of the Oxford Orphanage Asylum Farm and the mistress of his beautiful home on College Street, Franklin Baird and Miss Daisy Lee Mast (now Mrs. Baird) were present. Franklin had graduated at State College.

A letter of regrets from Arkon, Ohio, signed Mrs. Bud Billings brought to memory the beautiful "Valle Crucis" and Miss Wilma Baird.

"Meg" Love after leaving the A. T. S. completed her education at Salem College, specializing in her best loved profession, "Math." She is now a teacher at Elon.

Blanche Mallock and Maggie Herndon are still single, but they have forged to the front in the teaching profession. They spend their summers conducting County Summer Schools.

Our brilliant Baxter Linney has continued his school interest in citizenship and become one of the first criminal lawyers in the state. Politically, he leads his party; while sentimentally, he continues his love of Coffey. No longer by the same name, however.

The old identity of Ashe and Watauga counties was beautifully symbolize by Howard Mast and Maye Barlow—both write their names "Mast."

You remember our discussion concerning whether Ernest Billing was more interested in literature or in cartooning. Well like the men who quarrelled over the chameleon, we were both right. He married Frances Laws, the popular young writer, and has proven the most formidable rival of George McManus, in the Sunday editions.

Norma Brown and "Giant" Hayes who went so eagerly to college after graduation here, report now from the concert stage in New York City.

One familiar face on the campus is that of Floy Cannon. Now everybody addresses her with deference as "Miss Cannon." She finished her Art course in Washington City and now teaches in the Appalachian Training School.

Among the group were two distinguished looking gentlemen fashionably dressed and confident in their movements. They are the Casey brothers, two surgeons from a great hospital, giving their lives in service for the love of humanity. The lady introduced as head nurse was Lula Taylor, now Mrs. Casey. Paul recently disappeared from the hospital causing great excitement but soon returned with his blushing little bride, Ella Garland, who since her school days, had been waiting for him in Lover's Lane.

From the North Carolina College for Women comes Lola Church, who is at the head of the Home Economics Department.

Then here was Tom Coffey. Could it be that it was the same old Tom of the A. T. S. who had gained such a reputation in tennis? His fame is scattered abroad and the papers are anxiously watched by his classmates for his high scores which seem so easily won.

Jule Warren who, as you remember enlisted in the U. S. army soon after leaving our class, is pushing steadily toward his ambition: to attain the rank of Major General as reward for his loyalty and service. He is a handsome fellow—straight as an arrow.

After spending four years at Meredith College, Annie Lee Crisp was elected Dean of Women at a College in Ohio, but answered a more insistent call to preside over a cozy little bungalow in Atlanta, Ga. She writes her name Mrs. Fred Hodges.

One of the greatest surprises of the occasion was furnished by a letter from a middle western town, explaining why Tom Farthing and Linda Cannon, now Mrs. Farthing, could not be present. They are traveling throughout the state giving musical recitals, and crowds flock to hear them every time they appear on the stage.

Blanche Gambill after her last year at Boone, by Miss Jarrell's advice, went to Peabody College in Tennessee, and after receiving her degree decided to be "Home Demonstrator." She is now at work on the coast—one of the best Demonstration agents in the State.

After Robert Gleen had finished his course at Chapel Hill, N. C., he took Beatrice Shull as helpmate and accepted the position as Cashier in the First National Bank of Boone.

Addie Hardin spent four years at Meredith College, and is now teaching English in the East Carolina Teacher's College.

You know it was supposed that the athletic interests of our class would be but temporary, but not so. In the opening game of the New York Giants who should appear as umpire but James Dula, while Byron Williams still holds the position as first pitcher on the same team.

Mary Holshouser held on to her purpose to become a musician completing her course at the New England conservatory. She is now teaching at the North Carolina College for Women.

You may get to see some of our class yet. Lucy Mast and Blanche

Horton, after finishing here, selected music as their life-work, and spent several years studying in New York City. They are on a world tour—just now in Paris or London. Earl Miller completed his course at Gettysburg College, Pa., accomplishing himself in mathematics and athletics, and he is now a widely known teacher and leader in athletics.

Arthur Moore, after graduating at the University of North Carolina and taking a post graduate course at Pennsylvania Medical College, is now a surgeon at Johns Hopkins Hospital.

Lizzie Lee Osburne went to North Carolina College for Women and finished her B. Mus. degree in four years. She has since taken Miss Lucy Coffey's place in the A. T. S. and is distinguishing herself.

Edward Qualls has worked up a booming trade in the hardware business. He now, as in his school days, is at all times an ardent admirer of the fair sex, but nevertheless fighting life's battles single-handed and making good.

Honor Dee Redmond, having taken her degree from Jefferson Medical College, is now at Johns Hopkins Hospital, as head nurse.

Wilametta Rowe, after two sessions in the State Legislature of North Carolina, is now a very active and influential member in the State.

Claudia Spencer and Clonnie Peterson are now occupying Prof. Smith's and Downum's places as Science and Latin teachers in the A. T. S.

Gus Williams graduated from the law school of the University of Pennsylvania and afterward showed his good judgment by marrying Bernice Cook. He opened an office in Winston-Salem, North Carolina where he made his home until he was appointed Judge of the Supreme Court.

You remember the beautiful home wedding of Mabel Williams and Howard Holshouser in the summer of 1923. Howard is a prominent member of Congress. They have a beautiful home on Pennsylvania avenue.

Anita Winkler has the distinction of being the first lady of North Carolina to hold a seat in the National Senate. But unfortunately she seems out of harmony with life and has recently introduced a bill to tax all bachelors to support an old maid's club. This has caused much heated discussion and a great stir in the land.

You remember how, in our playful moods, we used to characterize John Howell as "best penman, best friend, best philosopher, and best judge of human nature." He has justified it all, and is now a thriving young stock broker in the Mountain Metropolis. But strange to tell, he lives alone.

Senior Class Poem

Through days of sunshine, days of gloom,
We've come at last to face the goal
For which we've toiled from morn till noon,
From noon 'til night with conscious soul.

The mind controlled by conscious thought
Spreads out to find the universe,
Imbued with things for which we've sought
Each goal worth more than was the first.

With higher hopes for things worth while,
We'll make the world a better place;
We'll teach the world the way to smile,
Reveal the path that leads to Grace.

And when the world has found you true
To it, to God, yourself, and man;
It finds a welcome then for you
To enter in because you can.

To hold a place among our peers,
To know that we thus much have gained,
To feel that through the course of years—
It all could not have been in vain.

—Silas Burns Casey

Senior Class Song

Tune: "A Perfect Day."

I.

We have come to the end of our high school days,
And we're facing a new threshold;
For we stand today 'neath the beaming rays
Of a goal that ne'er grows old,
And its calling us up to the higher grades
Where the labors are new.
We have learned while here of the high ideals
And to these we will be true.

II.

Well this is the end of our high school days
And we smile at the tasks we've done;
We have labored from the dawn 'till the sun's last rays
For the victories we have won,
For memory has painted our high school days
In colors that ne'er shall fade,
But we pledge our love and loyalty
To the future Senior Grade.

—Silas Casey

The Last Will and Testament of the Class of '23

State of North Carolina, Watauga County, City of Boone, and Appalachian Training School.

We the class of '23 of the aforesaid State, County, City and School, having become exhausted by the long years of tiring study feel down-hearted because of the realization that we know nothing, and from having endured the scathing remarks and gibes of certain members of the faculty. We, are, nevertheless of sound mind. Therefore considering the fact that as a reward for our steadfastness we are to be awarded a diploma, and whereas, said diploma is about to consign us to an uncertain worldly experience, we do make and declare this our last will and testament.

1st. Because of our great love and admiration for the Junior Class, we appoint them our lawful executors.

2nd. We do will and bequeath to said Junior Class our responsibilities, hardships, dignity, and privileges which they have so long desired.

3rd. We do will and bequeath to Prof. Downum our degrees of D. P. R. (Doctor of Pony Riders) to be bestowed upon the class of '24 at their graduation.

4th. We do will and bequeath all of our monetary possessions which according to our secretary's report, amounts to $125.00 in liabilities, to Prof. Greene, who steered us over the rough places in the 8th grade, to be used to rent dress suits for the coming Junior and Senior receptions.

5th. We do will and bequeath our valuable literary gems that we have written from time to time to Prof. Rankin to be distributed among the students next year.

6th. Our little friend Cupid, who has caused so much hap-p-p-hap-hap-piness among some members of our class we do will and bequeath to Profs. Hillman and Wilson with the utmost confidence in his safety.

7th. We do will and bequeath all oratorical talent which has been exploded by certain members of the class to "Cinco" Phillips and "Polk" Brown to be distributed among the students in the form of Hot Air.

8th. Whereas our youngest brother, the Freshman Class, is of minor age, and will not be of the full age of a Senior for some time, our good will and desire is that Prof. Greer be and is hereby constituted and appointed guardian of said Freshman Class to have and to hold the custody of his behavior and manners during the critical period of Soph-hood and until he shall arrive at the age of a full-fledged Senior.

9th. Whereas, we, the class of '23 go from this institution at its greatest period of prosperity and vision, we find in our hearts a purpose to remember with pride and appreciation, the men who made the school possible. They who in 1899, began the work under the most unfavorable conditions, in a one room frame building 30 by 60 feet, old and dilapidated, in a town remote; in size, such as to furnish only 35 students, who were classified in and below the third grades; but today, chiefly through the efforts of these men, behold; a modernly equipped town, on the railroad, at the convergence of State Highways; a school whose lowest grade is the Eighth, with two years of standard Normal College work, with an average of three hundred students per term or nine hundred for the year; four frame and five brick buildings, together with $300,000.00 to be spent on improvements in the next two years. To these men, to this school, and to the vision of its future, we will and bequeath our gratitude, our loyalty, and our continuous support.

10th. We do hereby constitute and appoint our trusty friend the Junior Class, as aforesaid, our lawful executors of all our interests and properties, to execute this, our last will and testament, according to the time, interest, and meaning of the same, and every part and clause thereof, hereby making and declaring that all other wills and testaments were made out of our ignorance and that such wills and testaments are null and void.

This will has been drawn by me without constraint of fellow classmates of the class of '23. In witness whereof I subscribe my name and seal.

—Baxter M. Linney.

Junior Prophecy

As I sit here in the Library and try to foretell the future of the Junior class please do not disturb me.

At last I see;
At Shorthand business like, but never fast
Our dear old classmate, DEWEY MAST.

And there a grocery man, honest and good
Surely it must be Arrowood.

We our Helen admire, so like to Helen of Troy
For yet is she eagerly sought by many a boy.

Though Blanche has wandered, teasingly far and wide
Bailey untiring has ever been close at her side.

These Movie Stars, attractive, Yes all there,
Are Nell so fair Pearl precise and Bee.

Then Maude and Reba, hostesses of renown
in a wayside tea room, may be found.

The honored writers of more ancient day
Have never yet excelled our poet, Gray.

Yes Jim, would you guess, is an honest preacher,
And his wife, fair Lucy is, a former school teacher.

In African jungles with effort at spreading good cheer
Is Gordon, our president, whom we held dear.

Juniors, indeed are Eula, and Bergie and Nell,
But their liking for some of the Seniors, you can tell.

The song bird of our class, Miss Kate,
No doubt, in the opera field with ease will take.

Attractive Bobby of the winsome smile,
Still leads Poor Cecil over the last long mile.

In a small thatched hut among coconut trees,
On the sands of beach lives Cinco, our bachelor, if you please.

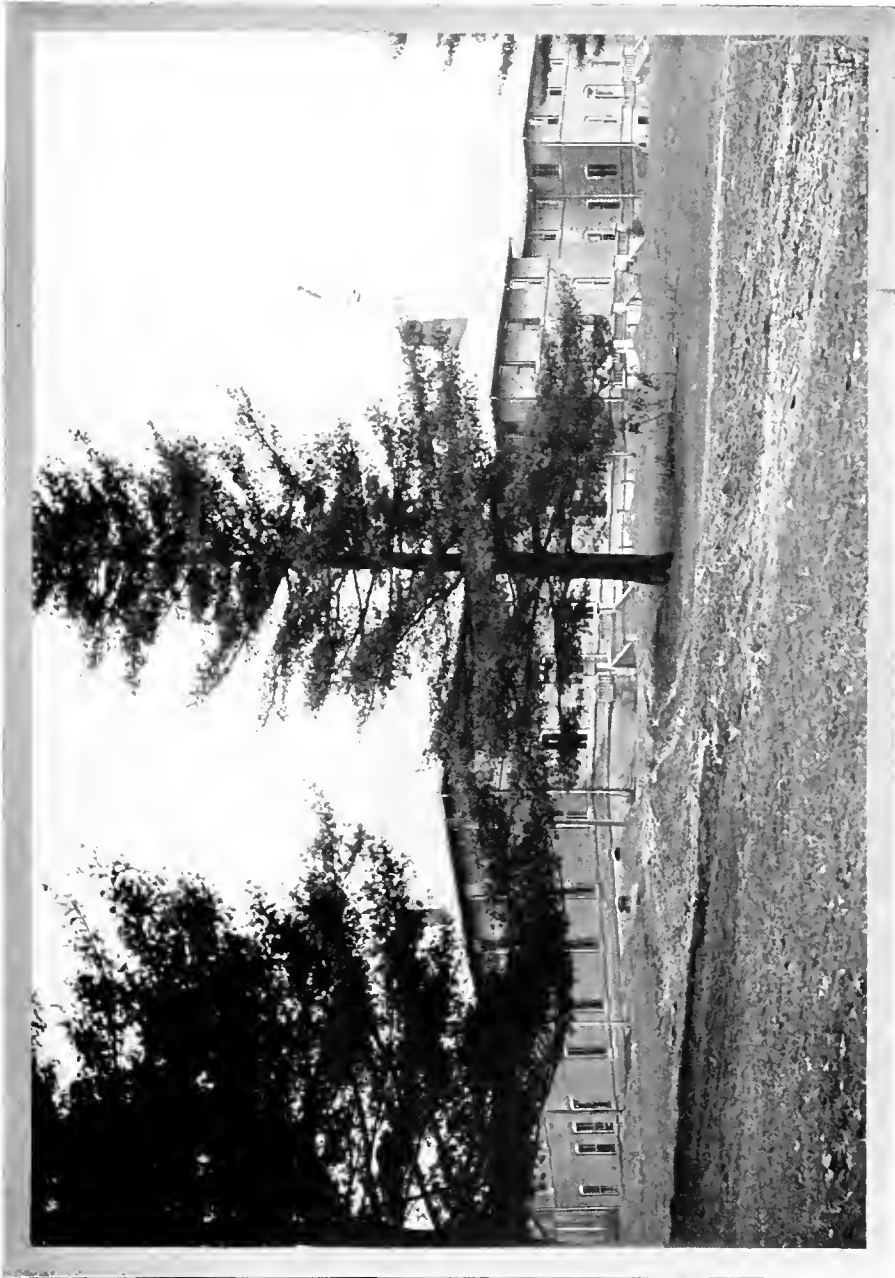

Many suitors there were all rivals for Lillian's hand
But Wayne Eller, won the prize from all this band.

In a conservatory by the sounding sea
There dwells a music teacher our own Elsie.

In a court room, Graham and Parsons we see
For Judges they are having won this high degree.

Mary Petite and Ruth are friends of the best;
Both seem inclined at affection's call to go "West."

Dessie and Verna, the friends strange to relate,
With success in a Jewish college, found each a mate.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

Sophomore Class Poem

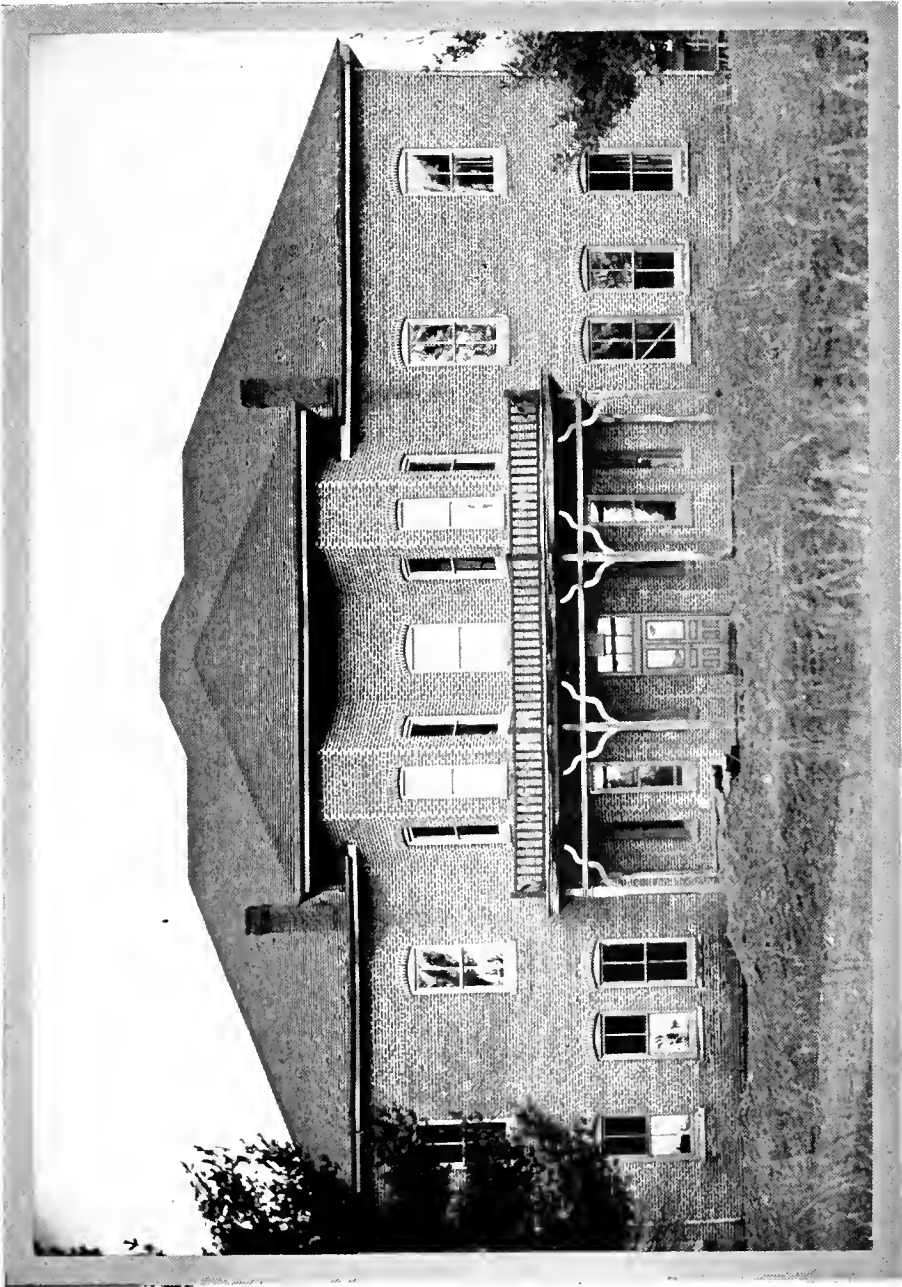

Sophomores, we, both brave and true,
In earnest endeavor our tasks to do,
Jolly, happy, gay and free,
You find no better class than we.

With diligence we spend each hour,
Achieving daily greater power—
In English, Latin, History, Math,
To appease our teachers' testy wrath.

The work of this year, at last is done,
And honest grades completely won;
As Juniors next, we'll jolly learn
The best esteem and grades to earn.

FRESHMAN CLASS

Freshman Class History

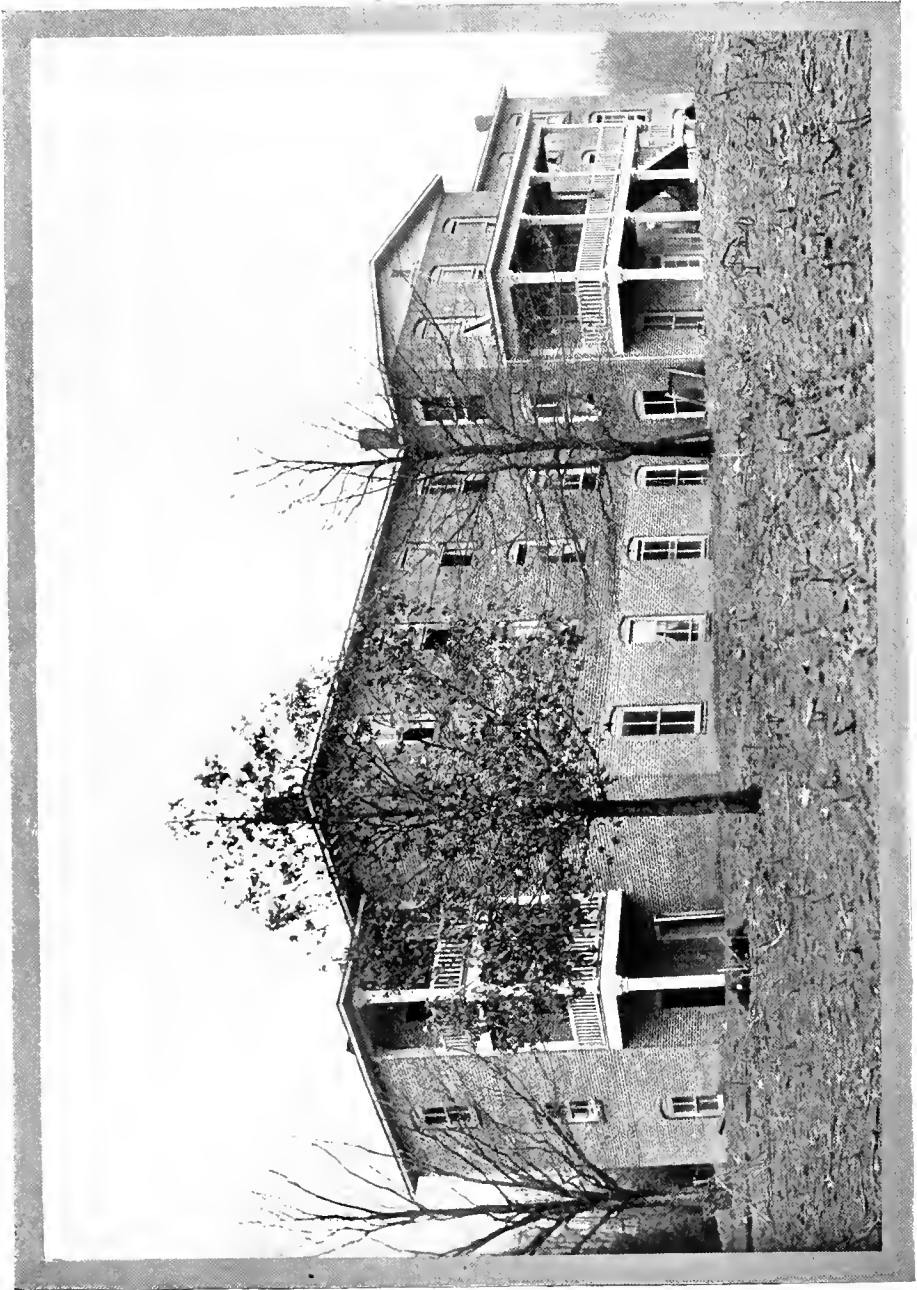

On August 22, 1922, marked the beginning of a new life to us. On this date our High School career began with much pride and anticipation on our part, for we felt that we were approaching an important epoch in our school life.

At the beginning of the Fall Term the Freshman Class consisted of fifty-three members. We were truly "Freshman" by which, of course, you know we mean green and fresh. It was only natural that we were teased, especially by the insinuating Sophomores, but we took it as a joke. After much jesting we were accorded due respect.

Early in the fall we had our first class meeting and elected our officers. From the beginning we entered into our work with true class spirit and loyalty.

We sincerely thank our kind and patient teachers for their interest and tireless efforts for our substantial good, and we truly hope that each one of us may reward their labor with a record that will reflect great credit upon them. We are on the first round of the ladder which leads to success, and we are working with a fixed and resolute purpose to reach the summit. We welcome any one who wishes to become a member of our class next year, and we hope that all of our classmates will return with the determination to work with more pep and earnestness than ever before.

WATAUGA ACADEMY

Normal Class History

On August 22, 1923, there assembled at the Appalachian Training School a class of about twenty-five members—The Normal Class of 1922-23.

Our existence as a class has been short, and consequently our history must be brief. Although there may not be much to say of our career in this school, we expect our class to make real history in the years to come.

There is to be seen a difference between this class and the other classes of this Institution in that the Normal class is made up of men and women who have caught a vision of their life-work and realized the need of proper preparation in order to successfully perform the duties required by the profession of teaching.

Our class has shown its interest in the work by records made; all have realized the importance of the advantages and the opportunities for advancement offered here; all have taken an active part in the Literary Society work; three of our members have held the office of Literary Society President during the short time here.

At the beginning of the Winter Term we elected Mr. G. J. Harrington President of our class and selected our motto and colors. Our motto, "Aspiring to Serve," is expressive of the desire of each member of the class to be of some real service to our country by shaping aright the lives of those who may some day become leaders in the State and nation.

At the beginning of the second half of the Fall Term we numbered only thirteen, but this fact worried only one member of our class, Miss Katherine Noel, who was greatly relieved when one of our number left, thus eliminating the unlucky number.

Our enrollment has varied greatly with the different terms. Some who have registered in the Normal work have remained for a term of only six weeks; others have been with us for a longer time; twelve for the entire year; forty one in all.

The Normal course has been offered for a little more than a year and its rapid growth prophesies that the school will more than fulfill its original purpose—"To educate teachers for the mountain districts." Already students are coming from far beyond the mountains and from different states. The time is not far distant when the influence of the Appalachian Training School will reach throughout the State and throughout the South.

It has been our privilege and honor to be among the first of the Normal students, and we hope that the classes of the future will receive an equal benefit and inspiration from attending this school. May they, as we, have the fullest measure of enjoyment in both their recreation and their work.

Such is our history, our prophecy, and our desire for the future of the Appalachian Training School.

—G. P. Eggers.

NORMAL CLASS

The Normal Class Poem

From the mountain's beauteous sides
Through the dark of lowland pines,
Flash the eyes and stir the heart—
'Tis the Normal's aspiring lines.

Few the days we tarry here
'Mid the scenes we love so well,
Nobler views before us rise,
Thoughts of which make bosoms swell.

While life's hours are passing by
We may bow to high demands,
Find the noblest paths and true
Following the beckoning hand.

Though some scorn the hiring scenes
Leading on the unsafe ways,
We are striving hard to hold
Better things for coming days.

While our numbers now are few
Other ones will crowd the years,
Thought that ours will come no more
To our eyes will bring some tears.

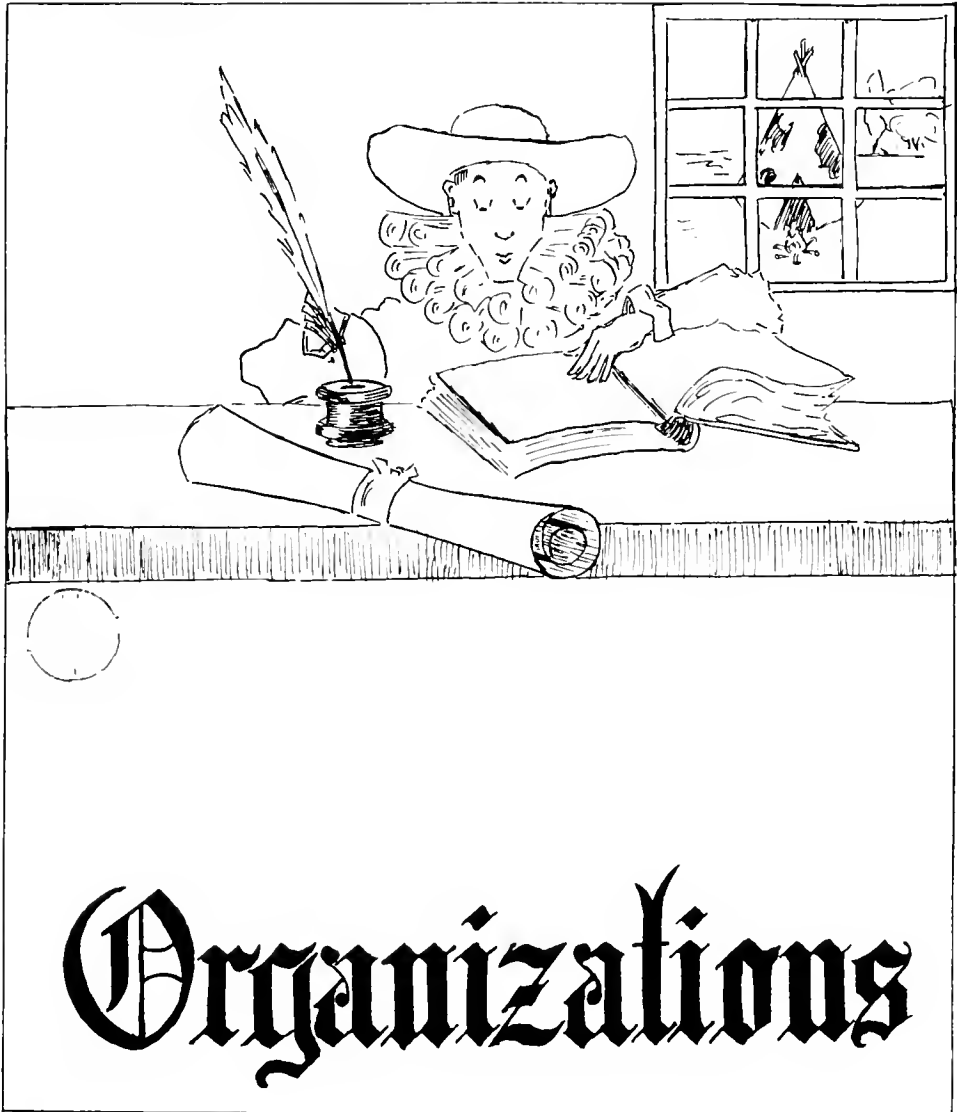

When we view these passing scenes,
Welling joy that memories bring,
Of our days at Thee, Dear School,
Rolling years will sigh and sing.

But the sighs, though some are sad,
Yearning still for heights so true;
And we'd wish the songs so glad
That they'd bid all ills adieu.

—G. J. Harrington.

Dr. Moose: "How about a nice box of candy?"
Silas: "Oh, no! I prefer something more lasting."
Dr. Moose: "How would chewing gum do then?"

Maye Barlow to Clonnie: "I know a woman who has two daughters, both named after flowers—Pansy and Rose."
Clonnie: "Has she any sun flowers?"

John Howell, asked on English to distinguish between a chicken and a man, said: "A hen will set and lay but a man will sit and lie."

For some reason or other Blanche Horton has never had to inquire any more, "Where's my man?"

James D.: "Does your mother object to kissing?"
Eula H.: "You needn't think because you kissed me once you're going to kiss the whole family."

Mrs. Henson: "Translate the following into French, 'Have you a watch?'"
Lynda C.: "Oui. Oui."

An Editor works both night and day,
Till the tips of his finers are sore;
Yet someone unkindly is bound to say,
"That's stale—I've seen that before."

Tom C.: "What is the height of your ambition?"
Baxter L.: "Oh, she comes about to my shoulder."

Shave: "Byron, the man you owe five dollars is on the 'phone and wants to speak to you."
Byron: "Tell him I've had the 'phone taken out."

Virginia: "My Dad says that I have a large cavity that needs filling."
Anita: "Well! Did he recommend any special course of study?"

Senior: "Where have you been?"
Freshman: "To the cemetery."
Senior: "Anybody dead?"
Freshman: "All of 'em."

Prof. Rankin: "How are you going to get rid of the parentheses?"
Ernest B.: "Erase them."

Annie Lee: "Silas dear, do you remember that joy ride last summer behind that cute little donkey?"
Silas C.: "Yes dear."
Annie Lee: "Well don't you know Silas Dear, I never see a donkey without thinking of you."

Jokes

Prof. Greer: "How many wars has England had with Spain?"

Addie H.: "Six."

Prof. Greer: "Numerate them in order please."

Addie: "One, two, three, four, five, six."

In the library I sit and look at all the kids but not my books. When my grade card comes out tomorrow—what flunking there'll be, and oh, what sorrow.

Wilma, in Literary Society: "What do you think of my execution, Madam President?"

Madam President: "I am greatly in favor of it."

Miss Todd: "How much time did you put on this lesson?"

Margaret L.: "About half an hour, 'railroad time.'"

Miss Todd: "What do you mean?"

Margaret: "Including all stops and delays."

STOP. LOOK. LISTEN!

"If you see a pretty girl you stop. If she is very pretty you look. After you are married you listen—the rest of your life," says Robert C.

Miss Todd: "I smell tobacco on your breath, Ella. Have you been smoking?"

Ella G.: "No, but Jule Warren has."

Mable W.: "What did you say when Paul asked you for a kiss?"

Mary H.: "Same old thing."

Mable W.: "What'd he say?"

Mary H.: "Same old thing."

Lizzie Lee (looking at a large grape fruit): "My, but Shang, it wouldn't take many of them oranges to make a dozen, would it?"

Shang: "No siree."

Wonder when the Seniors will ever agree on any one thing at any one time.

Mae B.: "Why can't you answer me in a nice way instead of nodding your head like an old cow?"

Honor Dee R.: "Well I reckon I've got a right to."

Shang: "I dreamed last night I was in heaven."

Lizie Lee: "Did you see me there?"

Shang: "Yes, then I knew I was dreaming."

Daisy Mast: "It seems to me I've seen your face before."

Bernice C.: "Yes that's where I generally carry it—before."

Jokes

Juniors: "What holds people on earth when they are upside down?"

Seniors: "The law of gravity."

Juniors: "What did they do before they passed the law of gravity?"

Ed Q.: "Mother, I feel sick."

Mother: "I am sorry son, where do you feel sick most?"

Ed: "In school."

Prof. Smith: "Students, if anything should go wrong with this experiment, we would be blown sky high. Come closer so you may be able to follow me better."

Guss W.: "I thought you were to keep our engagement a secret."

Duck Church: "I was but Kid Laws said no fool would marry me, so I had to tell her about you."

Photographer: "Do you want a large or small picture?"

Dorothy H.: "Small."

Photographer: "Well, close your mouth."

Pat M.: "I just got balled out for something I didn't do."

Claudia: "What was it?"

Pat M.: "Proposition in Geometry."

Silas C.: "Why did you cut your hair so short?"

Doc M.: "I wanted to get it off my mind as much as possible."

Robt. G.: "Bee, your hair is turning gray."

Bee S.: "I am not surprised, hurry up."

John H.: "It's all over dear, a fortune teller told me I would marry a blonde in three months."

Bergie B.: "That's all right dear, I can be a blonde in three months."

Frank Baird: "Who was Diana?"

Prof. D.: "She was Goddess of the Chase."

Frank: "Oh, so that is the reason she always has her picture taken in a track suit."

Tom F.: "I have figured out a good geometrical proposition."

Prof. W.: "What is it?"

Tom: "I have figured out how much water passes over Niagara Falls, to the quart."

Prof. W.: "How much?"

Tom: "Two pints."

Prof. D.: "In the sentence 'Brutus stabbed Caesar' what case is Caesar in?"

Frank B.: "In a pretty bad case."

Prof. Rankin: "We will take the life of James Russell Lowell tomorrow? Everybody come prepared please."

LINVILLE RIVER RAILROAD CO.

Spend Your Vacation In The Mountains

Now is the time to make your plans for the summer outing.

These lines, popularly known as "The Narrow Gauge," pierce the most attractive vacation grounds in the Southeast.

This railroad extending from Johnson City, Tennessee, to Boone, North Carolina, covers the greatest variety of natural scenery east of the Rockies, within so short a distance.

The section of Western North Carolina served by the "Narrow Gauge" affords all the attractiveness of the ideal vacation land; altitude, climate, rugged mountains, virgin forests, and beautiful streams where trout abound.
